Terrence Barr lit a candle in honor of David.

Dave knew how to light up a room. His infectious laugh and smile will always be remembered. My time in college at GMI with Dave has many great memories. Dave will be truly missed by all those he has touched and inspired.

Dave was the kindest, most patient, and giving person I've run into in a long time. We all need to be more like Dave in that respect. Dave's Smile lit buildings at Ford and forged friendships wherever he spent time. He will Never be forgotten. The jewels he instilled in his Mentoring Program of Young Men will always be present in our Community and have created a Stewardship and Bond that will Live Forever! We love you Dave and will see you in Heaven.

Hi Sydney - sorry for your loss. Beautiful pic. I first met your father back in June 1989 when we started our co-op job w/ GM. Too many precious memories to share here but I have always remembered him with a smile on his face as I'm sure he has now looking down on you. Stay strong. -Sanjeeb

Marlo lit a candle in honor of David.

Sending Heartfelt Condolences to the Family and Legacy of Dave from one of many of his collegiate family at GMI Engineering & Management Institute (Kettering University). Dave was a Beautiful Child of God unashamed of his Faith and Ministry of youth. His Unique Laugh was a Blessing during Stressful Times. He was Honorably Sacrificial with his Time if one needed tutoring with engineering courses at GMI. GODS Eternal Comfort & Strength to his Family, Countless Friends & Mentees. A Wonderful Friend.

His love for movies was a passion truly grand, The latest blockbusters, he'd have them all in hand. He'd treat his family to a cinematic delight, popcorn, soda, and laughter, every single night. A great soul he was, with a heart so wide, He'd stand by his friends and family, right by their side. With a joke and a smile, he'd light up the darkest day, Turning sorrow into laughter in his own special way. And oh, his visits to INDY for the Black Expo Summer celebration, Were legendary and filled with endless elation. He'd snap to the rhythms of the music so sweet, In those moments, life felt complete. But now that he's gone, those games won't be the same, Yet his spirit lives on in the laughter and the flame. He may be gone, but in our hearts, he'll reside, David Anthony Mangham, our laughter's eternal guide. So let's praise the Lord, with a chuckle and a tear, For a man so beloved, so full of cheer. He'll be greatly missed, that's undoubtedly true, But in our hearts, he'll live on, forever and ever, too! INDY Family
