Thank you for being my little big brother, my protector, my confidant, and friend. I miss you dearly and I am still in disbelief that you're gone. Thank you for being there when we had to be caregivers for mom. You and Kenneth were my strength, and I don't know what I would've done if you weren't there. I'm still kind of miffed that mom liked how you made breakfast for her better than me and Kenny, but it was all good. I knew it was because you were so painstakingly precise with what you did. You cut her food into small pieces so that she could chew it easily--brother, I am still trying to figure out how you could get 8 slices out of a grape. In this last year or so, you fought the good fight against cancer. Man, oh man, you beat the cancer. The nurse informed me that the last scans they took showed there was NO sign of cancer in your body. So, you fought hard and tried to stay strong, and I know you did that for me and Kyra. All the while, I thought I was being your strength. I am over my anger, and I guess the grief will fade eventually. The only real comfort I have is knowing that you are in the presence of our Heavenly Father, and you are in our future. I love you and until we see each other in Glory, rest and rejoice.
